

The Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Neo-Latin Studies (LBI–NL) in Innsbruck investigates the significance of Neo-Latin literature for the development of early modern Europe. More information about the institute and its research programme can be found at <http://neolatin.lbg.ac.at>. We seek to appoint a

Junior Researcher in the field of Neo-Latin literature (100%)

Duration of the appointment: up to 5 years

Annual gross salary: c. €35,210 for postdocs; €26,292 for doctoral students

Responsibilities:

- Participation in the programme line 'Neo-Latin and religion' (projects: Latin drama in the 18th century; Latin hymnography from the 16th century onwards). This includes editing and other publications.
- Collecting and cataloguing Neo-Latin texts.
- Participation in other activities of the Institute.

Requirements:

- MA or PhD
- Focus on Neo-Latin research for the duration of the appointment

The successful candidate will be based at the LBI-NL in Innsbruck, but spend extended research time also in Rome. Proficiency in German or Italian is helpful, but not absolutely necessary.

The LBI–NL is an equal opportunities employer and especially welcomes applications from women and minorities.

Applications should include a CV, transcripts, a list of publications and projects, and a writing sample (paper or chapter). Candidates should also state their earliest possible start date. Applications must be submitted by email to office@neolatin.lbg.ac.at no later than 30 April 2012.

If you have any further questions do not hesitate to contact us at office@neolatin.lbg.ac.at.